REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

Claims 1-14 are allowable over the prior arts of record.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The present invention pertains to a test circuit for an integrated circuit that measures an AC characteristic of each of input and output terminals of an integrated circuit. The claimed invention recites features such as "...a plurality of flip-flops, each flip-flop having an input terminal and an output terminal, said flip-flops being arranged in a matrix having n stages, each stage comprising m flip-flops, a like plurality of logic gates, each logic gate having an output terminal connected to an input terminal of a respective one of said plurality of flip-flops, and means forming a scan path serially connecting said plurality of flip-flops through the respective logic gates, to propagate a test pattern applied to the input terminal of one of said plurality of serially connected flip-flops, wherein: the test pattern is used to measure an alternating current characteristic of the input terminal of said logical integrated circuit, and said scan path connects the output terminal of the flip-flop located at an end of the first stage with the scan output terminal of said logical integrated circuit."

The prior arts of record teach (Whetsel, U.S. Patent No. 6,199,182 as an example of such prior arts) each array consists of a plurality of rows, each row including a plurality of die. The scan path connects the first die of each row to the second die of that row, and that die is connected to the next die of the row, which is connected to the next die of the row, etc., continuing to the last die of the row which is connected to the first die of the next row. The scan path continues in the same manner to the last row, the last die of which is connected to an output terminal.

The prior arts however, do not teach the various claimed connections of the final stages and the initial stages of the input and output scan paths. The advantages of these specific connections are that the claimed scan paths permit faster testing, as set forth in the specification (page 18, line 24 to page 19, line 7). As such, modification of the prior art of record can only be motivated by hindsight reasoning, or by changing the intended use and function of the prior art themselves. Therefore, it is not clear that one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention would have made the necessary modifications to the prior art of record to encompass the limitations set forth in the present application. Moreover, none of the prior arts of record, taken either alone or in combination, anticipate nor render obvious the claimed inventions. Hence, claims 1-14 are allowable over the prior arts of record.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
